

It's Happening Here!

A weekly electronic communication to the friends & families of the Placerville Seventh-day Adventist Church.

October 27, 2011

Dear Friend:

On Monday afternoon 5-year old Ameleah Kegley got off her school bus but her mom was not there to pick her up. The little girl walked herself home; but her mom was not there either. Three hours later and very worried, Ameleah found the keys to the family's SUV and got in the vehicle intending to go off in search of her mom. She got the headlights on and put the keys in the ignition but unfortunately drove the car in reverse right into the neighbor's yard. Figuring that she was in big trouble she went back into the house and called 9-1-1 telling them that she had crashed the car and was worried because her mom had not come home. When a police officer arrived he found a very scared, but unharmed little girl. The mom had been AWOL because she had earlier been taken by ambulance to a local hospital for some sort of ailment. The mom had tried to get a message to Ameleah's dad, but he never received it. This story makes me appreciate all the more our ever-present God who is never AWOL from us!

Here is a brief overview of church happenings for this weekend:

- Our Sabbath School classes run from 9:30-10:30am.
- Our worship service (10:45am) will feature the Mellor-Hager Worship Team. Pastor Roy will be sharing the next in the "Hope In Hard Times" series. This message will center on 2 Peter 3:8-13.

Our God is an ever-present God!

Well known proverbial saying that a class of 1st graders were asked to complete. This is the very answer that was provided by these 1st grade students:

"A penny saved is.....not much." 😊

"Let's Get Acquainted Day"

On Sabbath, November 19, we will be having a very special church service we are calling "Let's Get Acquainted Day." The idea will be that we will be opening our doors to our community inviting people from our community to meet with us for a special worship service (at 11:00am) celebrating God's love with people who care! There will be a luncheon afterward for our guests. Be thinking of people that you will want to invite to this very special day! There will be invite cards to take to do your inviting. 😊
